FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Soy Aquaculture Alliance Elects 2020 Executive Committee

INDIANAPOLIS (December 11, 2019)--Elections were held during the December 9th board meeting of the SAA Board of Directors. Serving as Chairman of SAA for is Jerry Bambauer of New Bremen, OH. Bambauer will begin his first term on the Executive Committee for SAA. Set to serve as Vice Chairman is John Wray of Ottawa, KS. New to the Executive Committee for 2020 are Keevin Lemenager of Monrovia, IN and Tom Adam of Harper, IA. Lemenager will serve as the Secretary of SAA while Adam will serve as Treasurer.

"I am looking forward to serving in the role of Chairman for SAA. The goal of SAA is to create partnerships that will help the aquaculture industry grow. Representing U.S. soybean farmers as we continue to work to develop innovative uses for soy in the aquaculture industry is important," said Bambauer. "As a soybean farmer, I am committed to developing diverse markets. We are seeing demands for aquaculture increase globally and this presents a tremendous opportunity for the U.S. farmer," Bambauer continued.

SAA was developed in an effort to supply of the highest quality soybeans and soybean ingredients for the aquaculture feed industry. Comprised of both private industry and a number of Qualified State Soybean Boards (QSSBs), SAA is working to make US soybeans the most widely trusted and commonly used aquafeed ingredients.

"The Soy Aquaculture Alliance represents a number of QSSBs and industry professionals. As we build relationships with aquaculture producers and feed manufacturers and fund research-we are committed to working to build sustainable feed opportunities for the growing aquaculture industry," Andy Tauer, SAA Executive Director explained.
